"I have been working for Canopus for over a year now. During this time I have overseen the secure destruction of 100's of terabytes of data. A typical day will consist of talking to customers, arranging equipment collections, briefing the data destruction team, and checking and verifying reports"

Canopus Solutions are pleased to announce a new partnership with Cloud Sustainability to provide you with "Waste Expert" - an online management tool to help you achieve full understanding and compliance of your waste streams while monitoring and tracking against set targets.

Waste management is a key sustainability priority that is often overlooked and lacks effective management control. Canopus and Cloud Sustainability are all too aware of the potential pitfalls of non-compliance within a company's waste streams. Traditionally, detailed operational understanding and considerable staff or consultancy resource has been required to manage this widespread and onerous waste legislation. Therefore, Cloud Sustainability have encapsulated expert knowledge from technical specialists, waste operators, technology developers and regulators into one single support tool. The Waste Expert will save your organisation time, money, and will transform the way you manage your waste.

The Waste Expert platform has been put together with three core principles in mind; Learn, Comply and Improve. We provide users of our platform the tools necessary to learn about sustainability, comply with the complex legislation and improve overall performance. This is done by way of eLearning (fully accredited by the Chartered Institute of Wastes Management), policy management building tools, database management and real time tracking and reporting.

With support from Canopus and Cloud Sustainability, the Waste Expert will guide and assist you in achieving excellence in waste and resource management. You will have expert assistance at your fingertips every step of the way.
