

THINK DATA ERASURE THINK RECYCLING THINK CANOPUS

Meet the Team

In this issue we meet Dylan Szabo, Team Leader and Senior Data Destruction Engineer

Dylan oversees the data destruction and recycling team to ensure we maintain 100% compliance for all our customers.

Dylan is responsible for ensuring the appropriate method of data destruction is carried out, that equipment is tested and graded correctly and that all identifying labels or marks are removed.

During the final stage of the process he co-ordinates the results to ensure our customers are supplied with the detailed reports that confirm successful completion of our service. All in accordance with our ISO27001 processes.

Dylan has been with us since our first days of IT recycling and through his hard work and commitment has progressed to the position he now holds.

His thorough understanding of all aspects of the process, enables him to provide feedback and suggestions for improvement whilst ensuring Canopus provide the highest level of customer satisfaction.

"The variety of hardware received always provides me with something new and interesting to work with on a daily basis.

It is great to be part of a company which is growing, but at the same time helping to protect the environment for our future"

The Environmental Benefits of IT Recycling

It has been a busy year at Canopus, which is great for us, but even better for the environment.

We have re-used and recycled over 38,000 items in the last year, that's a hefty 250 tonnes of IT equipment!

The benefits to the environment are clear to us with the equivalent of over 30,000 homes worth of annual energy saved and the reduction of greenhouse gas emissions equivalent to over 2,800 annual car journeys

In addition to this we have destroyed the data on over 20,000 hard drives, that's a data shattering 1,900Tb of data securely erased, the equivalent of over 27 billion emails!

Paper Shredding

The paperless office has been talked about for many years, but unfortunately we are still not there. Whilst you know Canopus can help with the destruction of your electronic data, we can also assist you with your document shredding requirements.

We provide a range of services from ad-hoc shreds to regular weekly collections. We can provide services both onsite and offsite and all paper shredded is recycled.

We can also supply storage containers for your shredding including sacks, desk side consoles and lockable wheelie bins.

So if you are clearing out some old archiving or want to discuss your regular requirements please contact us today.
